*College Heights, on hilltop fair,
With beauty all thine own,
Lovely jewel far more rare
Than graces any throne!*

*College Heights, with living soul
And purpose strong and true,
Service ever is thy goal,
Thy spirit ever new.*

*College Heights, thy noble life
Shall e'er our pattern be,
Teaching us through joy and strife to love humanity.*

CHORUS
*College Heights, we hail thee;
We shall never fail thee.
Falter never—live forever,
Hail! Hail! Hail!*

Thinking about a career? Think about two.

Two careers are as easy to get as one. Just take Army ROTC. You earn your degree and your Army commission at the same time. Now ROTC pays $100 a month during your junior and senior years and all it requires is a few hours a week. Then you can serve as an Army officer.

You'll be making decisions, managing men, traveling. Who knows? You may stay in the Army. Or you may go for a civilian career.

You'll be in great shape for the competition. You'll have an education sharpened by your Army management experience. That combination can take you far—and fast. Find out all that ROTC can do for you.

Army ROTC. The more you look at it, the better it looks.

Western Kentucky University

WESTERN KENTUCKY UNIVERSITY

Western Kentucky University was established by an act of the Legislature of Kentucky in 1906. Originally created for the sole purpose of training teachers for the elementary and secondary schools of Kentucky, Western has steadily increased the scope of its academic programs to meet the expanding needs of its students.

Designated as a university by the Kentucky General Assembly on February 6, 1966, Western now consists of seven colleges: The Bowling Green College of Business and Public Affairs, The College of Applied Arts and Health, The College of Education, The Ogden College of Science and Technology, The Potter College of Arts and Humanities, The Graduate College, and The Community College.

The Raymond Cravens Graduate Center and Humanities Library and Pearce-Ford Tower [a 27-story men's dormitory] went into use for the first time last year. The Ivan Wilson Center for Fine Arts is being completed on the site of the former football stadium.

Plans are well underway for a commercially-developed area of married student housing and an environmental sciences building.

Western's campus is recognized as one of the most beautiful in the nation and is crowned by a commanding hill from which Hilltopper athletic teams derive their nickname. It affords a view of the University from almost any approach to the city of Bowling Green, a community of approximately 36,000 people.

The University now offers four four-year undergraduate degrees, two two-year undergraduate degrees, and eleven graduate degrees, with course offerings in thirty-five different departments. Western's enrollment has been more than 11,000 students for the past two years. That figure does not include students in the Jones-Jaggers Laboratory School or students enrolled in extension classes conducted away from the campus.

Fifteen years ago the University's physical plant consisted of twenty major buildings on a campus of 128 acres, with a total value of $10,000,000. The campus now is composed of 185 acres containing more than 60 buildings with a total value of more than $94,000,000.

WELCOME TO WESTERN

Western Kentucky University takes pleasure in serving as host to many conferences, meetings, and activities that provide us with pleasant association and friendly fellowship with alumni, friends, and interested patrons of the University. Among these activities are the outstanding athletic events scheduled during the year, and it is to you who are attending the home football games during this 1972 season that I extend a cordial welcome to the Western campus.

We are grateful for your presence here because it demonstrates your interest in Western Kentucky University. The students, faculty, and staff are genuinely proud of the University and are attempting to make it better and stronger each year. We recognize the great heritage that is ours, and we will constantly seek to protect and preserve the ideals on which Western was founded—"To be a live school and to impart to its students a burning zeal to do and to be something; to let the reputation of the school be sustained by real merit; and to lead the student to understand that a broad and liberal education is essential to the highest degree of success in any endeavor of life . . ." Stated by Western's first president, Dr. H.H. Cherry, these ideals continue to be a sustaining force in the life of Western.

On behalf of the departments and program areas that make up the seven colleges of the University and of all the individuals who are associated with Western as a part of the University community, I extend best wishes and invite you to return to the campus on frequent occasions. Also, we invite you to call upon us whenever Western can be of help in the future.

The Athletic Director JOHN OLDHAM

Johnny Oldham became Western Kentucky University's director of athletics in 1971 after seven years of leading the Hilltoppers to some of their finest hours in sports as head basketball coach. He paced Western's basketballers to four regular season Ohio Valley Conference championships, four holiday tournament titles, five trips to national post-season tournaments, and an overall record of 146 wins against only 41 losses.

He climaxed his coaching stint at Western in 1971 by guiding the Hilltoppers to a 24-6 record and a third-place finish in the NCAA Tournament finals at Houston. He was named the OVC "Coach of the Year" for the fourth time and won the same honor for NCAA District 3, both by vote of his fellow coaches.

A Hilltopper basketball All-American in 1949, Oldham played two years of professional basketball with the Ft. Wayne Pistons of the NBA, then coached at Western's College High School before going to Tennessee Tech as head coach in 1955. He led the Eagles to at least a share of the OVC title three times, winning 118 and losing 83, giving him a career coaching total of 264 victories against just 124 losses, one of the finest records in the nation.

THE HEAD COACH

JIMMY FEIX

After serving eleven years as offensive coach under Nick Denes, Jimmy Feix took the Hilltopper helm from his former boss in 1968. In four seasons he has compiled 7-2-1, 6-3-1, 8-1-1, and 8-2-0 records, good for two second place finishes and two championships in the tough Ohio Valley Conference.

An outstanding player in his own right, Feix led Western to some of its greatest seasons ever (1949-52). His playing career was climaxed with his selection as Western's first football Little All-American in 1952 after quarterbacking the Hilltoppers to a tie for the OVC title. He added a win in the Refrigerator Bowl to Western's wreath of laurels that year when he led the 'Toppers past Arkansas State to boost the school's season record to 9-1.

In the process, Feix earned for himself a trial with the New York Giants of the National Football League. As a pro, he was impressive in early drills and seemed ticketed to understudy then All-Pro Charlie Conerly until a serious injury ended his career.

Feix still holds the OVC pass completion percentage record with a mark of .631. In addition, he still owns four of Western's individual records for passing and total offense. He held seventeen other individual records until they were broken by Johnny Vance in 1969.

Feix's teams have become known for an innovative offense that makes best use of available personnel, a rock-ribbed defense that ranks eighteenth in the nation against scoring over the past five years, and a competitive spirit and zeal second to none.

Ohio Valley Conference Enters 25th Season

With the 1972 football season underway, the Ohio Valley Conference enters its 25th athletic season with a colorful past history and a promising future as one of the nation's strongest athletic conferences.

Growth and national recognition have accompanied the OVC since its birth date in 1948. Prior to 1955, only three OVC members had been ranked as major basketball powers, with Western Kentucky receiving six invitations to participate in the National Invitational Tournament in New York. But in 1955, the National Collegiate Athletic Association formally designated the OVC as a major basketball conference, thereby assuring the loop of representation in the NCAA Tournament. In 1965, the OVC had two participants in post-season tournaments: Eastern Kentucky in the NCAA and Western Kentucky in the NIT.

Likewise the OVC has become a respected football power as the caliber of competition and interest rises with each season. Bowl bids are common for the OVC which has participated in the Tangerine Bowl, the Grantland Rice Bowl and the Refrigerator Bowl.

Administrative growth has paralleled the rising progress of its athletic teams. In 1960, presidents of the member colleges expanded a three-man judiciary committee to a seven-member Executive Committee, which still exists.

The evolution of the office of commissioner has been the key to the conference's maturation and organization. The current Ohio Valley Conference commissioner, Arthur L. Guepe, is the league's first full-time administrative officer.

Among Commissioner Guepe's responsibilities is the interpretation and enforcement of conference regulations and eligibility rules, in addition to his publicity and statistical duties.

The Ohio Valley Conference is one of the nation's most cohesive governing bodies of athletics. Continually striving to make improvements in the league's structure, the OVC should continue to grow as it has during the past 24 years.

MEANWHILE, BACK ON THE HILL...

LONDON THEATRE Study - Tour

by David Gray

These long, expensive foreign study programs may be soon a thing of the past at Western.

The University's Board of Regents has approved a pilot short-study tour of London Theatres in conjunction with a practicum class in the Department of Speech and Theatre.

Most students are aware of the year or longer exchange programs with various institutions abroad, but Western's program represents a step toward a developing concept which will compliment one's area of study says Dr. Paul Corts, director of the University Honors Program and the foreign study program.

Beginning Dec. 27, the tour will encompass a 14-day stay in London taking in nine theatre performances, sight-seeing, and daily discussions about the live theatre.

As originator, Dr. Corts says participants do not necessarily have to enroll in the practicum course although it is an opportunity to study theatre in its relevant culture.

For seven days, Westerners will have an opportunity to visit such places as the Covent Garden, the National Gallery, Westminster Abbey, and the Tower of London.

Dr. Lee Mitchell of the speech and theatre department and tour professor, says that students will have an opportunity to see performances by such acting companies as the National Repertoire Theatre and the Royal Shakespearean Company.

According to Dr. Mitchell, who before coming to Western has taught such famous actors as Charleston Heston, Jennifer Jones, and Carol Lawrence, noted that December marks the peak of London's theatre season.

Program coordinator, Corts says he hopes that the Western program eventually will be offered during the three-week May Term.

Expense per person, which includes round-trip travel arrangements by air, lodging, sight-seeing tours, and tickets for performances, is $495.

Dr. Lee Mitchell of the Speech and Theatre Department will be tour professor for the 14-day stay.

HILLTOPPER HOT LINE

Will Recent Series History Spur Hilltoppers?

Today's clash between Western Kentucky and Middle Tennessee cannot be completely separated from the battles the two teams have fought the past two years. The Hilltoppers have won the Ohio Valley Conference Championship in each of the past two seasons, BUT . . .

Middle Tennessee was the only team to hang an OVC defeat on Western in 1970 (13-17) or in 1971 (13-27).

And if the Hilltoppers are to keep alive their dreams of a third consecutive OVC crown, they must stop the MTSU streak today.

Western, after bouncing Morehead 35-6 a week ago, is 4-1 in OVC play and 5-2 overall. Middle Tennessee, which suffered a 24-0 shutout at Ball State last Saturday, is 5-2-1 overall and 2-1-1 in the Conference.

In facing Middle Tennessee, the Hilltoppers will take on one of the finest defensive units in the OVC and an offense that shows considerably more balance than in either 1970 or 1971. Fans who have followed the Western-MTSU series the past couple of years know what kind of defensive performance Blue Raider tackle Greg Gregory can give.

He was instrumental in the first-quarter flurry that got Middle Tennessee way out in front in Murfreesboro last year. He'll be wearing jersey No. 77 when he steps onto the grass in L.T. Smith Stadium today.

The Raiders can throw the ball better this season mainly because of improvement by today's starting quarterback, Fred Rohrdanz, and the addition to the squad of his back-up, Fayne Limbo, a transfer from Southern Mississippi.

Both are averaging close to five completions per game. Limbo was the starting field general for MTSU earlier in the season.

The Raiders' biggest running threat is the player who started at quarterback against Western last season, Melvin Daniels. He averages nearly four yards per carry and has the speed to break open a game with the long scoring sprint.

Western's double tailback punch of Clarence Jackson and John Embree did it again last week as Jackson ran for 143 yards in 16 carries and Embree reeled off 54 yards in 19 attempts. Quarterback Leo Peckenpaugh had one of his top performances against Morehead, accounting for 152 yards in total offense.

The junior from Henderson completed 8 of 15 passes for 99 yards and one touchdown and ran for 53 yards in 10 carries and another TD.

Meanwhile, the defense held Morehead's league-leading offense to just 147 yards, the kind of defense that Western Coach Jimmy Feix and his staff hope for--and the Hilltoppers will need--against MTSU today.

The Hilltoppers and the Raiders have been playing football ever since 1914. Middle Tennessee has a one-game edge in the hotly contested series, with 19 wins against 18 victories for Western. There has been only one tie between the two teams, a 7-7 deadlock in 1925.

'52 Hilltoppers Together Again

One feature of today's Homecoming Festivities is a reunion of the 1952 Hilltopper football team, the first to win an Ohio Valley Conference grid championship for Western Kentucky University.

Current Western Head Coach Jimmy Feix quarterbacked that team to an 8-1 regular season record, a tie for the OVC title with Tennessee Tech, and a 34-19 win over Arkansas State in the Refrigerator Bowl at Evansville, Ind.

Feix was named Little All-America for the 1952 season. Joining him on the All-OVC team were end Bob Simpson, guard Marvin Satterly, fullback Gene McFadden and halfback Max Stevens.

The returning '52 stars will be honored just prior to today's game.

Laguna Colonnade Hardtop Coupe

The new 1973 Chevelle Laguna. Good news, Chevelle fans. Now you can move up to more car without leaving the make you love most. You can move up to the new 1973 Laguna.

Laguna is a new kind of Chevelle, the top of the line. It has a special front, a special rear and a special interior. The distinctive front is made mostly of a material called urethane that resists dents and dings. Styled right into the front end is the new improved front bumper system that retracts on minor impact and helps cushion the shock.

Inside there are rich-looking fabrics, wood-grain vinyl accents, a soft-rim color-coordinated steering wheel, map pockets and other luxurious appointments.

Laguna, like other '73 Chevilles, has the new Colonnade hardtop roof design, power flow-through ventilation, front disc brakes, and more rear seat leg room than ever before.

The 1973 Laguna. A new and better way to see the NCAA.

Coaching...Wow, How It Has Changed

by BOB HAMMEL, Sports Editor, Bloomington (Ind.) Herald-Telephone

John Pont has looked at college football from a lot of views.

Undersized, unpublicized and totally unrecruited as an offensive guard in high school at Canton, Ohio, Pont became the most storied halfback in the rich football tradition at Miami University.

At Miami, "The Cradle of Coaches," Pont played for two of the greatest: precisionist Woody Hayes and imaginative Ara Parseghian. He coached at the freshman level, then as a head coach in three distinctively different college football circles: at Miami of the Mid-American Conference, Yale of the Ivy League and Indiana of the Big Ten.

In just the last five years at Indiana, Pont has known the glamor of taking a team to the Rose Bowl, the glory of selection by his peers as the nation's coach of the year, the trauma of a black boycott and the dismay of a 1-9 season.

Clearly, Pont's a man to listen to when the question comes up: How is coaching . . . how is handling those longer-haired, enfranchised, "involved" young collegians of today . . . different from the good ol' days?

Same Game

"I don't think the football we coach, the X's and O's part, is any different at all," Pont said. "It's blocking and tackling. Oh, the formations change . . . we have the wishbone now, but really it's just an offshoot of the old belly series.

"And I don't think the things we look for in an athlete we recruit are any different.

"What has changed, and changed a lot, is the coaching that is done off the field. That changes fast—from week to week, even. Off the field, often just in talking things out, getting to know anything and everything about each player as an individual—that's where we're spending a lot more time now.

"Don't misunderstand. The emphasis has always been on the individual. But today's individual has a little different needs.

"We're dealing with an athlete today who wants to know why—why are we doing this, why are we doing that? In our day, all we wanted to know was what—what are we going to do on offense and defense, coach? Then we went out and did it.

"That's not really a change in football. That's a change in life style, and today's coach has to understand this. It's like hair length. Two years ago, we had explicit rules. Now, none. I don't see any relationship between hair and performance.

JOHN PONT

Sideline Action

"But understanding is a two-way street. The athlete has to do some, too. We've gone through a period when we had two sides at loggerheads—and not just in football. The whole way of life on a college campus has been out of whack. It's been an I'm-right, you're-wrong situation.

"In the last couple of years, there's been a gradual but sure lessening of that. We're learning to listen to each other. In our small world of football, I think the athletes as well as the coaches have learned that the other guy isn't always wrong."

Conflict of Views

Pont recognizes the conflict between his views of a more open sports society and the charges of player dehumanization by tyrannical coaches, the keynote of books written in the last few years by disenchanted athletes like Jack Scott, Dave Meggysey and Chip Oliver.

"I've read in those books that we develop automatons," Pont said, "that the disciplines we want are old-fashioned, that we should have more 'input' from the athletes. I have to ask myself: 'Does what they say have merit? Do they have anything better to offer?'"

"And I've read that athletics can't build character. Now, really, who's kidding who?"

"I'm all for 'in-put' and activism and involvement in causes, but that's not new. I felt the same way at Miami and at Yale, and certainly the players on our '67 Rose Bowl team were aware of what was going on in the world around them. They had their interests and pursued them, and they were anything but automatons. They were unpredictable and in many ways uninhibited, but they were not an undisciplined group.

"Off the field, they had fun. They enjoyed their college years. But when they were on the football field, they played football.

"I think this is where it all crystallizes—on the field. What a player becomes involved in off the field is up to him, and I'm speaking here of causes, not conduct, because I think that even off the field a player has a moral responsibility to his teammates, his coaches and especially the younger people of his community.

"But, basically, off the field he should be himself and pursue his interests. On the football field, he's part of a team. That's the type of athlete we had on that '67 team, and that's the type I like to coach."

For all of coaching's ups and downs, Pont still loves the life.

"We've just gone through two bad years," he said, "but even in those, you always have a pick-me-up. Sometimes, they're little things.

"I had a call the other day from a teacher in Canada who played football for me 15 years ago at Miami. He called to recommend a sprinter to me because he believes in the young man. To me, it also means that he believes in us as coaches, in what we teach.

"There was a day last spring when I dropped my children off at school, and a teacher made a point of coming up to tell me that Mike Heizman, our safetyman last year, was the best student-teacher she had ever worked with.

Earned Degree

"At graduation, I saw one of our players who had thought about quitting school two years before because his buddies back home had jobs and money in their pockets. I saw that young man leave here with a degree and a good job in a leading company. I saw another player who wanted to play pro football; he got cut before the first practice because of a high school injury, but he shook off that disappointment and moved right into an excellent job.

"This is all a part of coaching—the circle of friends you make and the honest feeling you get that you helped a young man realize a little bit more about himself so that, when he left, he was better prepared to stand on his own two feet and handle the pressures of today's society. Things aren't going to be good all the time, but maybe as coaches we can help our athletes to be a little bit more resolute with their basic beliefs.

"I wonder what Jack Scott would offer as a substitute for that."

ACADEMIC ATHLETIC BUILDING #2 — L. T. SMITH STADIUM

The Academic-Athletic Building No. 2—L. T. Smith Stadium is one of the newer parts of the University's unique central athletic, recreational and physical education complex.

The entire Athletics Complex now consists of a 19,250 seat football stadium, a track with all-weather surface, a practice field, a baseball field and 11 tennis courts with all-weather surfaces in addition to 13,508-seat E. A. Diddle Arena—home of Western's basketball teams since 1963.

The Academic-Athletic Building No. 2—L. T. Smith Stadium is a multipurpose structure, including 12 classrooms, a two-story gymnastics room and 26 offices in addition to a football dressing room for 80 players, spring sports and visiting dressing rooms for 146 athletes, physical education showers and locker room facilities, public rest rooms, concession stands, equipment rooms, officials' and coaches' dressing rooms, a first aid room and a pressbox with accommodations for nearly 100 persons.

L. T. Smith Stadium is named in honor of the man who devoted much of his life to the development of Western sports, serving the institution as football coach (1920-21), basketball coach (1921-22) and as chairman of the faculty athletic committee almost continuously from 1922 until his retirement in 1965.

STADIUM INFORMATION

DRINKING in Smith Stadium is prohibited by state law forbidding the use of alcoholic beverages on state property.

TICKETS—Please read your ticket for the location of your seat and always keep your ticket stub with you. Ushers from Western's Military Service Department are on hand to assist you. Tickets for future home athletic contests may be obtained at the Business Office, Lawrence W. Wetherby Administration Building, open Monday thru Friday, 8:15 a.m. to 3:45 p.m.

LOST AND FOUND articles should be reported to the attendant at either door of the press box.

PHYSICIAN'S SERVICE — Out-of-town doctors should leave their name and seat number with the public address announcer. Local doctors will be called over the public address system.

REST ROOMS are located at intervals along the upper and lower concourses in the stadium.
